Xippas is pleased to announce the opening of its summer season 2022 - 2023 in its large rural space on national route 104, Manantiales - Punta del Este.

The first exhibition features the artists of the gallery as well as numerous guest artists, all from the South America region. Curated by Manuel Neves, this exhibition offers a wide panorama of the Latin American contemporary art scene.

“This exhibition, designed specifically for the Xippas Punta del Este space, displays an important group of Latin American artists who develop an extremely diverse range of projects, both in their media and techniques, and in their aesthetic and narrative formulations.

All of the artists share a connection to landscape, nature or geography, yet the manner in which they represent these three concepts is diverse, non-traditional and highly poetic. Although the exhibition presents a subjective and partial panorama of contemporary Argentinean, Brazilian and Uruguayan artistic production, the tension or dialogue created between the works reflects the present moment.

The show aims to expose contemporaneity in a delicate balance between the local and the global, between the political and the aesthetic, between erudition and frivolity, between influence and omission, between nostalgia and amnesia.”
